

New online park booking system

An online booking system is now in place for 11 of South Australia's national parks and reserves, with others to follow in coming months.

Book and pay online for

- Coorong National Park – entry and camping
- Little Dip Conservation Park – entry and camping
- Canunda National Park – entry and camping
- Bool Lagoon Game Reserve – entry and camping
- Hacks Lagoon Conservation Park – entry and camping
- Beachport Conservation Park – entry and camping
- Piccaninnie Ponds Conservation Park – entry, camping, and dive and snorkel permits
- Innes National Park – entry, camping, accommodation
- Mount Remarkable National Park – entry, camping, historic accommodation
- Deep Creek National Park – entry, camping
- Dutchmans Stern – historic accommodation

Pay for entry and other permits before you arrive at these parks, as you can no longer pay at the gate.

Bookings for campsites can be made up to 12 months in advance, letting you plan your break early.

If you make a last-minute decision to have a weekend away, no problem! You can book on the road using your smartphone. Some shops and visitor centres near parks also act as booking agents and take cash payments.

But remember, popular campgrounds fill up quickly during peak times like long weekends and school holidays, so book early whenever you can.

Visit www.parks.sa.gov.au to make bookings and payments, find a booking agent and get more information about parks to get the most out of your stay.
